All Fundraising Companies Directory
(<http://www.fundraisingweb.org/>)

The Fundraisers Resource Guide was prepared to make it easier and quicker for fundraisers such as yourself to find the best alternative for your group. It is divided into two sections.

1. Commercial: A listing of top fundraising companies in the U.S. and Canada offering a variety of products and services. They are ready to answer any questions you may have and assist you in having a profitable fundraiser. If you see a product or service that really appeals to you, your best bet is to go directly to the company via their website or telephone. You can find all these companies and request information from all of them with a single request form on our website site at <http://www.fundraising-ideas.org/>; and,

2. Non-Commercial: We have included twelve of our most viewed do-it-yourself fundraising ideas from our extensive collection. They come in a variety of sizes and shapes. Some are traditional and some are a little bizarre! Some contain detailed instructions while others are just brief summaries of past fundraising activities of other organizations. Find these and over 100 more at <http://www.fundraising-ideas.org/DIY/>.

Fundraising Newsletter

You can also subscribe to The Fundraising Hotline, our free monthly newsletter made available via e-mail. Each issue includes a new or unusual do-it-yourself fundraiser, sources of fundraising products and services, news, trivia, and maybe even a little humor. We hope that each issue will contain information that is beneficial to you and your organization. If you later decide you no longer need fundraising information or if you don't find our newsletter helpful, just click on the unsubscribe link at the end of each newsletter. You will stop receiving newsletters immediately. You can see the current issue and subscribe at <http://www.fundraising-ideas.org/newsletter/newsletter.htm>.

50-50 Raffle

Simply involves the sale of raffle tickets with the proceeds being split evenly between the winner and your organization. Many clubs include a 50-50 raffle at all their regular monthly meetings. Tickets are sold throughout the 'get acquainted' or informal portion of the meeting. The profits can be earmarked for an individual ongoing project, or included with other funds raised for your main charitable goal.

Bakeless Bake Sale

Send this letter to your members: You are invited to NOT bake a cake, pie, cookies, or brownies. You do NOT have to find the recipe. You do NOT have to shop for the ingredients. You do NOT have to mix. You do NOT have to cook. You do NOT have to cut. You do NOT have to wrap. You do NOT have to wash dishes. You do NOT have to clean up your kitchen. You do NOT have to deliver the baked product. You do NOT have to stand in the heat/cold/rain to sell the baked product. You can write a check for $10.00 to "name of organization" and stay home and enjoy doing something yourself or with your family!

Alternative: (Your organization name) is having a Bakeless Bake sale fundraising event through the month of May. All ladies are asked to contribute the amount they would have spent on ingredients, plus an amount for their time and skill. You don't need to burn your fingers or dirty a mixing bowl. And everyone is asked to contribute what you would have spent for a couple of pies, a loaf of bread, and a plate of cookies. There are no calories in it. And it will help the (Your organization name) in all the good work done by this organization. Bring gifts to xxxxxxxxx, or mail to xxxxxxxxx.

Cowpie Bingo

Experience the "sweet smell of success" while hosting a cow pie fundraising event during a school fair, football game, or other event. A cow is turned loose on a fenced-in area which has been marked off in 500 three-foot, numbered squares. The cow determines the winner by making the first "deposit" on one of the squares. Chances on each square are sold for $5. The winner receives $500 or 20% of the sales, whichever is less ($1 for every square sold.) Kids and adults will both love this fun event.

Make sure that the animal is well-fed on the day of the fundraising event, to assure a timely "deposit". Sell squares in advance as well as before 'turning out' the cow. A line judge is required for close calls. Set out clear rules to avoid problems and assure impartiality. If possible, choose a field with stands for the ticket holders to wait and watch for the big moment. A football or soccer field (in off season) might be used if fenced or you have enough volunteers to keep the animal on the grid. Possible sources of the star player: a local dairy, horse farm, etc to donate the critters "time" and the field to make a grid. In place of a cow, you could also use a horse, goat, or sheep, even a dog in a pinch! However using a cow will usually guarantee media interest and greater publicity for your group. Choose a docile animal and groom resplendently for the event. Have several volunteers available to patrol the fence and assure no one is able to influence the event in any way. It's best to have a rain date arranged ahead of time, if needed.

This can take either a short time, or a good long while, and some groups find it a good time to sell concessions like hot chocolate, popcorn, and hot dogs. There may be other entertainment on hand as well.

Don't Come Event

This is a clever way of asking for donations in a novel and humorous manner. First things first! This event will never actually happen -- other than on paper. You send invitations to supporters - and potential supporters - for a spectacular event with scrumptious food, exciting entertainment, and a glamorous guest of honor. The sky's the limit since the event won't actually occur. Let your imagination run wild!

Why in the world would you do this? Because it's a good way to raise funds and have some fun at the same time -- something that's nearly impossible to do when trying to raise money. Your only costs are the printing of the invitations, thank you notes and postage. If you can get some of this donated, that's even better.

Send the invitations to as many people as you want - overcrowding will not be a problem. In addition to your regular supporters, be sure to include local political leaders, businessmen and media personnel. You should also send press releases to the media outlets in your area. They are always looking for humorous current event items. Make sure you include information on how someone can purchase a ticket.

Okay ... so why would anyone buy a ticket to a non-existent fundraising event? Because there are a lot of very busy people who are willing to support a good cause but don't have the time, energy, and/or interest to go to one more rubber-chicken dinner. Purchasing a ticket to a don't come event lets them support a worthy cause while relaxing at home. Plus, they will appreciate your ingenuity.

You should make your invitations classy - printed on good quality paper. After all, the invitation is all they will get for their ticket purchase. Make it just like an invitation to any formal affair. You can use a standard good quality thank you card. Make sure that the invitations and thank you cards are hand addressed to make them more personal. Oh ... and since the recipient gets nothing for their ticket purchase, make sure you include a notice with their thank you card that their donation is fully tax deductible.

Alternative: Have a don't come fundraising sporting event where members of your group 'don't play' the Harlem Globetrotters, Green Bay Packers, etc.; a debate between someone in your organization and the President, a movie star, athlete, or other famous person on a 'nutty' topic; or? Be creative. Be humorous. Have fun. Make money!

Flamingo Flocking

Purchase 10 pink plastic flamingos (lawn decorations). Pick 10 yards in your community to be the lucky recipients. Attach cards to the flamingoes' necks with a phone number along with all the pertinent information regarding your group. State that for a $10 donation, the flamingos will be removed but for $15 they will be moved to the lawn of their choice. Make sure you also place a sign that has a contact name and phone number among the flamingos for those who drive by and would like to have the flamingos placed in a friends yard. (Also give the option to simply pick up the flamingo gratis, since some people have no sense of fun.) It takes some organization, but is lots of fun. An additional fundraising idea is to sell "Pink Flamingo Insurance" for $10 to protect yourself from the invasion of these pink pests.

Alternative: Hold a good ole fashion flocking at your office. Make cut-outs of pink flamingos and charge co-workers to flock other people's offices or cubes. Take the cut-outs or plastic flamingos and decorate the flockees area. You can charge $1 per flamingo, which will generate tons of money for your team. The bigger the flockin', the better.

Night In Jail

Volunteers in Adams County, Pennsylvania, paid $40 for an all-inclusive stay in a new, state-of-the-art prison. Children between 12 and 18 years of age stayed for half-price, but each had to have an adult with them. Spouses could share a cell. The event was a fundraiser for the Adams County Homeless Shelter, but it was also a training exercise for the prison staff. Of each $40 fee, the shelter received almost $38, with the remainder paying for the food served. Two meals, served on plastic trays, were included in the price. For an additional $5, inmates could purchase a commemorative T-shirt that read "I spent the night in jail to help the homeless."

The inmates arrived by noon on Saturday to be signed in and issued their essential orange jumpsuits. After that, they were provided their meals on a prison time table and attended the same educational sessions offered to real prisoners by prison staff. Release was at noon Sunday. Overnight guests stayed in a minimum security area in cells that are like rooms. Accommodations were made for privacy. The roster of inmates was a mix of men and women, a diverse blend of college professors, people who conduct prison ministries for area churches, and residents of other areas who simply thought it would be an excellent opportunity to experience prison life - without breaking a law.

Nude Calendars

This is certainly not appropriate for all groups but there is a growing number of organizations who have determined that they can raise funds with this eye-opening alternative and have a little fun at the same time. The participants are totally nude but have strategically placed objects blocking "key areas". Participants have ranged in ages from the twenties to their eighties, and all have been shown to be pretty good natured folks from all walks of life who are just trying to help out a worthy cause.

Rent-A-Kid

One Methodist youth group did this one several years ago and you can make money at no or very little cost. They advertised to their church that the kids in the youth would be for rent between such and such dates, (allow one or two weeks for the project). Have youth leader to be the one people check with to rent a kid. They can sign up for as many days as they want and request the youth they want.

They must make sure the jobs they have for the youth to do are jobs that they can perform without hurting themselves. There is different ways you can charge. You can do it by donation per hour or per job or you can set a price such as $10.00 and hour. If two or more youth are requested at the same time by the same person make sure they pay per youth. Just make sure the people that are renting is people that you know and trust to allow your youth to go there. Youth leader may have to make sure parents can help with transportation.

Have fun. Some of the youth decorated Christmas trees and put up Christmas decorations, shoveled snow, swept side walks, raked leaves, planted a tree and flowers, mowed grass, cleaned house, babysat and a variety of other jobs. They did Rent-A-Kid during different times of the year. Have fun with it.

Reverse Raffle

This is a raffle where you don't want to win. Give a free ticket to everyone attending a regular organization meeting or special event. Tell them they are automatically included in the drawing for a special prize. If they don't want to be eligible for the prize, they can "sell" their ticket for $1 to $10 - depending on your attendees.

Why would they want to get rid of their ticket? Consider prize options/activities that can be completed during the event itself such as singing a song standing on a table; wearing a silly hat or mask; having their face painted; wearing a funny costume; or ?????? Be creative!

You will find very few spoil-sports who won't go along. If nothing else, they will "sell" their ticket to keep from looking foolish. Your only expense is the raffle tickets (a double ticket roll, a single ticket roll that you tear in half or a board with the numbers for sale). All ticket stubs (or duplicate tickets or numbers, depending on your style of raffle tickets) are placed in a hat or other container from which one "lucky" number is drawn. The drawing is normally held early in the event to make sure that the "lucky" holder is present.

Alternative 1: Offer a prize such as a goat, pig, donkey, etc. You can be magnanimous and offer to purchase the prize back from the lucky winner for $10.

Alternative 2: Another alternative is to have a raffle with a "real" prize but rather than let the first number drawn win, you keep drawing until only one number is left. The winner is the last number drawn.

Rock-A-Thon

One youth group did a Rock-A-Thon. Each student asked for pledges from friends, family and neighbors to see how long they could rock in a rocking chair & playing video games. The kids had to bring their own rocking chairs or gaming chairs that rocked. They also were allow to bring their own non-violent video games and systems to play. The school supplied the TV's and electoral cords. They raised over $2,000 with this A-Thon and the kids loved it. As the night went on they had terminals with different games and WII matches all for silly prizes. They made a minimum pledge of $25, so the kids understood it wasn't just a free night of video games. Really easy to set up. It was a win/win night.

Spirit Chain

This is a great fundraiser for school students, but could be used with other groups. Have a competition within the different classes in the school (senior, junior, sophomore, freshmen) to see who has the most school spirit. Each class has two colors that their paper chain consists of. Sell each strip of paper for 25 or 50 cents. Keep the chains hidden and then at an assembly have class representatives bring out the huge paper chains that have accumulated over time. Whichever class' chain is the longest receives bragging rights for the rest of the school year. This is a great activity to do right before homecoming or other school functions when school spirit is high. The only thing you have to pay for is the paper and staples/glue/tape.

Topless Car Wash

Got your attention, huh? Don't worry! This is G-Rated! This is run just like a regular fundraising car wash. Advertise that it's a "Topless" car wash and set up the car washing area behind a business where it can't be seen from the street. People will flock to it out of pure curiosity! Designated beauties lure people to the car wash. When the driver pulls into the wash area they find that a "Topless" car wash means 1) the washing crew is all male ... who are topless of course; 2) the bottom of the car is washed free but a donation of $X is required if they want the top washed; 3) the entire car is washed except for the roof for $X and for an additional $Y you wash the top; or 4) convertibles with the top down (topless) get a free wash! Pick the option you like best or make up a new one. Folks are generally pretty good natured and appreciate the ingenuity.

Alternative for Animal Groups - All your animals in attendance will only wear shorts (with holes cut out for their tails) and won't be wearing any shirts, hence they are topless!
